Four-page budget special
Waste and recycling update
Welcome to the March issue of One Island magazine. In this edition we include a four-page guide featuring important information about your council tax for 2012/2013, together with details about the council’s budget for the year ahead and its key investment programme.

More details about the council’s budget will be provided in a 20-page booklet due to be delivered to all households in March along with your council tax information. This issue also brings you an update on the continuing building projects to upgrade facilities at school sites around the Island.

Advertising in One Island

More than 43,000 copies of One Island are distributed throughout the Island for each edition.

The magazine is published as an insert in the Isle of Wight County Press – with additional copies available in libraries, post offices, help centres, doctors’ surgeries and other key locations.

If you would like to advertise in One Island, please contact us for more information and a copy of our rate card:

One Island costs in 2011/2012

Income from advertising generated £26,348, balancing total production costs of £25,514.

One Island was produced by staff in the council’s resident information and consultation unit, as part of a broad range of duties.

Work is underway and continuing apace on the first phase of a project to refurbish The Heights Leisure Centre at Sandown.

The two phase project – designed to improve facilities and reduce running costs – began in January and is due to be completed by the end of October.

Initial work has involved emptying both pools, demolition work in the wet-side changing rooms, and setting out the foundations for the new Tone Zone gym (see artist’s impression above).

Main contractor Mountjoy Construction has been employing a range of Island-based sub-contractors.

The new Tone Zone gym – scheduled to open in May, is designed to be at the heart of the new-look Heights, and will feature state of the art cardio-vascular and resistance equipment supplied by leading supplier, Pulse Fitness.

Gym users will be able to use the Pulse Fusion brand of cardio-vascular (CV) equipment to run, cycle and step while enjoying a programme of their choice from the full range of Freeview TV channels. Each CV station will have a 19 inch screen and an iPod docking station.

During the first phase of the refurbishment, the existing Tone Zone gym, the Health Zone gym, treatment (therapy) room, health suite and the activity studio will remain open as usual.

The second phase will see the health suite given a new look, the creation of a third activity studio and the construction of new large dry-side changing rooms equipped with new lockers, baby changing and vanity areas.

To reduce the impact of the partial closure, the opening hours of Westridge Leisure Centre, Ryde have been extended to accommodate gym users and squash players, while extra sessions have been programmed for the pool at Medina Leisure Centre, Newport.

The work at The Heights is part of council investment in its directly-managed leisure facilities, totalling £6.8 million.

Among the targets of the investment is to improve the take up of sporting opportunities by five to 16 year olds; to halt increases in childhood obesity; and to generally improve health, wellbeing and life expectancy.

For more information about The Heights or the additional sessions at Westridge and Medina please visit www.iwight.com/leisure

The £260 million Highways Private Finance Initiative (PFI) to improve and maintain the Island’s road network over the next 25 years has taken a significant step forward.

The council has reduced from three to two the number of organisations it is negotiating with to become the selected contractor for the project.

The two companies still in negotiations are the Wight Highways Partnership and Vinci. By June the council will have selected its chosen partner ahead of actual work starting in April next year.

Under the scheme, the Island will receive £260 million (at its current value) in government grant – not a loan that has to be paid back – to upgrade the road network, footways and cycleways, streetlights and the CCTV network. The PFI also includes street cleansing and winter maintenance.

A government grant of nearly £1 million has been awarded to improve the Island’s fire and rescue service.

The money, from the Department for Communities and Local Government, will be used to create two high-tech incident command centres in Newport and Ryde – and provide crews with the latest ‘Toughbook’ mobile information systems.

The grant will also finance the council’s transfer of its control room function to more advanced and resilient facilities hosted by Surrey Fire and Rescue Service, which happened early in March.

Chief fire officer Steve Apter said the technology in the new incident command centre could include screens linked to the Island’s CCTV network, and links to other emergency services. It would also be large enough to function as a multi-agency ‘silver’ command facility for major incidents on the Island.
New scheme will make paying to park easier

From 1 April this year motorists on the Island will be able to pay for their long stay parking permits using direct debit.

The new facility will be available online via iwight.com and through the Customer Services Centre at County Hall, Newport.

Motorists will be able to spread the cost over the year by making an initial payment of £50 using a credit or debit card and then with ten further payments of £50 at monthly intervals. A temporary permit can be printed from the website or, if the application is in person, at the Customer Services Centre. A permanent permit will then be issued within 14 days.

The introduction of the direct debit scheme for long stay permits is in addition to the payment for parking by phone option, which was successfully launched in January.

The council has also recently decided that to assist the Island’s economy and encourage shoppers to visit town and village shops it will not be increasing parking charges from 1 April 2012 – the fourth consecutive year parking charges have been frozen.

For more information on the introduction of direct debit payments or payment by mobile phone please contact the parking services section on 821000, or visit www.iwight.com/parking

Island residents are being reminded there are no changes to their weekly day of waste collection throughout the year.

The alternating weekly recyclable (wheelie bin or clear bag) and non-recyclable (black bag) waste collections and weekly food caddy collections will continue on your usual day – as shown on your waste collection calendar.

This means for the forthcoming bank holidays over Easter, the May bank holiday, and the two Diamond Jubilee bank holidays in June, your collections will take place on your usual day.

If you have any questions concerning your waste collections, please telephone 823777 or visit the waste questions and answers section at www.iwight.com/waste

July date for Olympic torch visit

The Olympic torch will be coming to the Isle of Wight on Saturday 14 July, as part of its national tour in advance of the 2012 games in London.

The torch will be arriving in Yarmouth and will be taken to the Needles before being carried to Newport and then East Cowes.

Along the way, it will be carried by dozens of local torch bearers. Large crowds are expected to welcome the torch throughout the day.

Full details of the route, including timings and the best viewing points, are due to be published closer to the time.
A major new document guiding planning and development issues on the Island is due to be adopted by the council.

The final go ahead for the Island Plan Core Strategy comes following its acceptance by the Planning Inspectorate, which examined the document last year. The Island Plan will guide planning on the Island over the next 15 years. The key theme of the updated policy approach is to enable economic regeneration of towns and villages across the Island while ensuring the environmental quality of the Island is protected.

There is a strong focus in the plan on ensuring development meets local needs, whether for housing or employment development opportunities.

A whole range of events are being staged on the Island this summer to mark the Queen’s Diamond Jubilee.

The Island’s main jubilee event will take place at Appley Park, Ryde from Saturday 2 June to Monday 4 June, and there will be a church service at Newport Minster on Monday 28 May.

There will also be firework displays, other events and exhibitions at various locations. For more information about the events along with advice on how to organise your own Diamond Jubilee party, visit www.iwight.com/jubilee

Nationally, Buckingham Palace is co-ordinating a programme of events including a Big Jubilee Lunch, Diamond Jubilee Pageant on the Thames, a concert at Buckingham Palace and the lighting of 2,012 beacons around the UK – including on the Island.

The Queen’s visit
The Queen, accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh, will be visiting Cowes on Wednesday 25 July as part of her tour of the UK to mark the Diamond Jubilee.

The tour provides the Queen with the chance to express her thanks to people throughout the country for their continued support and loyalty.

More details about the visit will be announced nearer the time.

More than 40 young people on the Island aged 16 to 18 have so far signed up to a council scheme promoting apprenticeships for those not in employment, education or training.

The council launched the pre-apprenticeship scheme late last year, providing a sum of £85,000 to help young people into work with Island businesses for up to six months.

Under the initiative, the council has been working with various work-based learning providers on the Island to administer the scheme and identify suitable businesses to take part – matching young people to pre-apprentice opportunities depending on their skills and qualifications.

The scheme has targeted a range of employment sectors on the Island, including construction, marine, tourism and hospitality, health and social care, advanced manufacturing and retail.

• The council is also allocating £300,000 in 2012/2013 for initiatives to help tackle youth unemployment and create new employment opportunities.
Natural history memories with Bill Oddie

This year’s 14th annual Isle of Wight Walking Festival will be getting off to a fascinating start, with a special appearance by TV personality Bill Oddie to share his favourite memories from television natural history.

He will be joined by fellow naturalist and broadcaster Stephen Moss for ‘Bill Oddie Un-plucked with Stephen Moss’ at Medina Theatre, Newport on Sunday 29 April.

To book tickets for the show, telephone 527020 or visit www.medinatheatre.co.uk

Tens of thousands of people are expected to take part in this year’s 16-day event – the biggest festival of its kind in the UK – which runs from 5 to 20 May.

The 250-plus walks featured this year include a stroll in the stunning gardens of Queen Victoria’s Osborne House at East Cowes and a chance to follow in the footsteps of 19th century poet laureate Alfred, Lord Tennyson, along the 12-mile Tennyson Trail in the West Wight.

Other highlights include the round the Island coastal path walk, the popular speed-dating walk, and walks to celebrate the Queen’s Diamond Jubilee.

Details of all the walks can be found at www.isleofwightwalkingfestival.co.uk, with programmes available on request from the website.

On Saturday 5 May, St Thomas’ Square, Newport will be transformed for the launch of the festival, with hot embers and broken glass being laid across the square to create two unusual footpaths. People are being invited to take part in walks over the two paths, with sponsorship generated going towards Beaulieu House respite centre, Newport.

Also during the festival, on Sunday 13 May, the Walk the Wight annual fund raiser for Earl Mountbatten Hospice at Newport, will take place, offering a choice of distances, from 8.5 miles to the full 26.5 miles across the Island from Bembridge to the Needles Park. Walkers must register to take place in Walk the Wight, and can do so via www.iwhospice.org/wwt

Also don’t forget the walking festival’s popular Autumn Walking Weekend, which this year takes place from 26 to 29 October.

Cycling festival 2012 – September date for the diary

The 2012 dates for the popular annual Isle of Wight Cycling Festival have been set – 22 to 30 September.

The 2012 festival – sponsored by Wightlink, Matrix Create, the council and Red Funnel – will feature more than 60 different rides, including the British Heart Foundation Cycle the Wight event on Saturday 29 September and the Hills’ Killer Mountain Bike challenge on Sunday 23 September.

On Sunday 30 September there will be the West Wight Triathlon, featuring a 600 metre pool swim, 35 kilometre cycle ride and a 7.5 kilometre run.

Organisers are looking for experienced cyclists to volunteer to lead some of the rides. Anyone interested should contact Claire Critchison of the council’s events team, by emailing claire.critchison@iow.gov.uk

The full programme of rides for the festival will be available in June. More information can be found at www.sunseaandcycling.com

Super-fast broadband is on its way

There are exciting plans to bring super-fast broadband to much of the Island over the next few years.

Openreach (part of the BT Group) is planning this month to start to install super-fast broadband in ‘commercially viable areas’ – including many homes and businesses in Newport, Cowes and Ryde.

Openreach has set up a website to provide questions and answers for potential users. More details can be found at www.superfast-openreach.co.uk

Another project, announced late in 2011, involves £3 million of Isle of Wight Council investment to bring super-fast broadband to more rural areas of the Island.

To ensure the £3 million is match-funded by the government, the Island needs to give evidence of local need. Island businesses and residents are being encouraged to show their support via a page on the iwight.com website.

This investment is part of the government’s Broadband Delivery UK (BDUK) project. BDUK is a team within the Department for Culture, Media and Sport, which was set up to deliver the government’s strategy of bringing super-fast broadband to all parts of the UK. BDUK’s main role is to allocate and distribute £530 million of funding to bring super-fast broadband to a third of UK homes and businesses not provided for by the broadband market.

Without this public subsidy it would not be commercially viable for companies to make the investment in more rural areas.

The definitive timetable for the council/BDUK project has yet to be finalised, although it’s hoped physical work will begin in 2013.

Super-fast broadband will help businesses and residents make better and more effective use of the internet by providing faster speeds and better access to a wider ranging service.

From street dance to bingo

The former Downside Middle School building at Newport is going from strength to strength in its new role offering a wide variety of learning opportunities to the Pan community.

Activities hosted at the new-look centre range from a sports coaching course run by the Isle of Wight College and League One football club Bournemouth, to teaching Japanese to young children from the Island’s Japanese community.

There is also an IT suite used by community groups, street dance, bingo, short mat bowls and band practice – and the county music service also operates from the building. In cold weather, the centre provides a night shelter for homeless people.

One group delighted to operate from the council-supported centre is the Way Forward initiative, which offers services for adults with learning difficulties.

“We were previously in Newchurch which was a bit out of the way so we were delighted to be able to come to Downside,” said Mandy Morritt, Way Forward co-ordinator.

“There are also many facilities here or nearby that our clients are able to use, from the multi-use games area (pictured above), to the allotments and the Isobel Centre.”

Peter Hopkins, commissioning manager for the council, said that to mothball the Downside Middle building until it was needed again on completion of the Pan Meadows development in 2017 would have been a missed opportunity.

“Rather than having an empty building we now have a vibrant facility that is widely used for a range of purposes for people of all ages, not just within the Pan and Newport communities but from across the Island as well.”

If you are interested in hiring space at the centre, you should contact Kim Roscoe, tel: 524340.
A big thank you has been given to groups of volunteers for their tireless clearance and management work at key rural sites across the Island in the past year.

The dedicated volunteers, working under the direction of the council’s Countryside Service, have amassed a staggering 1,800 hours of practical work at a range of locations.

Tasks have included tree work at Fort Victoria, near Yarmouth; scrub clearance at Shide Quarry, Newport; reed bed management at Afton Marsh, Freshwater; and conifer clearance at Mill Copse, Yarmouth.

Many groups and individuals have helped with the work, including the Learning Zone, comprising home educated young people; and the Wildlife Warriors, who are organised by the Countryside Service and meet once a month to work at council sites.

Countryside ranger, Nick Webb, said: “The work of the volunteers is very much appreciated and means we have been able to maintain a wide range of ongoing projects across the Island.

“Their contribution varies greatly, and may involve coppicing (cutting hazel to increase light to the woodland floor then allowing it to re-grow), tree planting, footpath improvements, reed cutting and chalk downland management. However it’s not all work – and with all the groups there is a great team spirit.”

• If you are interested in volunteering, you can contact Nick Webb on 823893, who can provide information about the Wildlife Warriors and various other groups.

PRIVATE FOSTERING

Are you looking after someone else’s child or is someone else looking after yours?
If so, you could have a private fostering arrangement and you need to tell us.

Private fostering is when a child, or young person under 16 (or 18 if they have a disability) is looked after for 28 days or more by someone who is not a close relative, guardian or person with parental responsibility. Close relatives include parents, step-parents, aunts, uncles and grandparents. It is not private fostering if the arrangement was made by the Isle of Wight Council.

Private foster carers can be a friend of the child’s family or someone willing to care for the child of a family they do not know. Common private fostering situations can be children and young people living apart from their families, children with parents overseas, children on holiday exchanges which last more than 27 days and teenagers living with the family of a boyfriend or girlfriend.

While private fostering is often right for all involved, there is a legal duty to inform the council of such an arrangement. This is to help keep children safe and the families concerned supported.

If you know of a child who is being privately fostered or if you are offering private fostering without our knowledge, then please let us know by calling 525790 or, if appropriate, speak to the foster parent or carer.
In the latest of our special articles looking at personal budgets, Island mum, Lynda, tells us in her own words about the major difference the changes have made to the life of her autistic son, James...

"About two years ago, before our son James turned 18, we were made aware of a ‘new thing’ coming in called a personal budget. This was a sum that would be allocated to him (after an assessment) each year, and would provide him with the financial help to access activities and learning opportunities to aid his development.

This was a revelation to us, as just for once the emphasis was about what James needed, not just putting up with what was available.

James had spent the whole of his school life at a special school, and we strongly felt in the last few years his development had stood still. So we wanted to embrace the ‘new thing’ as soon as we could, because we knew we could make a better job of his continuing education and learning.

The first step was the self-assessment questionnaire, which was supposed to highlight where he was in terms of ability and understanding (our son’s autism is not very easy to define and runs on different levels in different areas). This caused no end of debates both between ourselves and with our social worker, but we finally reached agreement, and this formed a basis on which his needs, social and educational, were worked out.

The support plan was then written. We were very keen his timetable should provide learning opportunities and activities reflecting his interests, build on his levels of understanding, and provide him with long term, achievable goals.

The second step was submitting our plan, including the costings. This was not easy, as parents are not allowed to attend the meeting either to explain or argue the case. As a result it came back to us three times before the final sum for the year was agreed.

There were some blips, mainly to do with the cost of transportation and budgeting for extra activities. But in the first year our son has been able to experience Haylands Farm at Ryde, Blue Sky Arts Drama, a trampolining club, swimming, tree climbing and bush craft. We were also able to find a care agency that had a great young man who took him for outings to various island attractions, and also accompanied him on long walks and shared lunches.

At this point our son was still at school, but to ease him into the next stage of his life, we were able to negotiate with school so that he attended only three days a week, then two. This provided him with the time to access the extra opportunities, and when he went to two days, we found someone we could employ as a life skills coach.

Our son’s education has now become very practical, such as cooking lunch, shopping, travel training and various sports activities – and his life skills with his coach have increased to include learning to travel solo to Newport, practical maths and work experience in a residential home.

Along the way, I have met many people that consider a personal budget is a huge mountain to climb, and it can feel like it until you get your head around the whole thing. But if you embrace it, you really can make it work for your ‘special person’.

We have also just heard the marvellous news that James has been invited along with his dance school to perform on stage in April at Her Majesty’s Theatre in London – an opportunity which has arisen thanks to his personal budget. It really has made quite a difference to us all.

• If you would like to find out more about personal budgets, you can contact your care manager or the council’s duty team, tel: 534227.

Waste collection update

In the past month Island residents have trebled the amount of waste they are recycling. Here we provide a useful update on your new collection arrangements and an extended cut-out-and-keep guide to what goes where...

Where does your waste go?

Under the new scheme you can recycle a wide range of plastics, metals, papers, cardboards and glass.
This waste is taken to Lynnbottom collection centre (pictured top right and below) on the outskirts of Newport, where it is stored before being transferred to a specialist recycling plant in Southampton.

Food waste (caddies):
Your food continues to be collected weekly. You have been provided with two containers, a small caddy for use in the kitchen and a larger one which should be put out for collection each week.
It is recommended that food is put in a plastic bag as this makes it easier to empty and keeps the containers cleaner.
Food waste goes to the gasification plant in Forest Road, Newport (pictured right) where, along with other materials including the plastic bags, it is burned to generate power.

Non-recyclable (black bags):
Waste that can't be recycled is collected fortnightly in black bags.
This waste goes to the gasification plant where it is mixed with the food waste and burned to generate power – anything that can't be burned is sent for landfill.
Because the black bags go to the same place as the food waste, sometimes you might see your food waste put in the same section of the waste lorry as the black bags (although this will not occur until the food pods on the vehicle have been filled).
It is important that you separate your waste and use your food caddies rather than put food directly in with your residual waste (black bags) – as this prevents smells and stops animals from tearing bags open. Food waste will never be mixed with the recycling collection.
Extended guide to recycling

Please cut-out-and-keep this extended guide to recycling your waste. It includes some extra items to those included in the list sent out with your collection calendar in January.

Recyclable waste (wheelie bins/clear sacks)

Paper:
- Envelopes, junk mail.
- Phone directories.
- Newspapers, magazines, catalogues, brochures.
- Writing and printer paper.
- Wrapping paper.

No shredded paper.

Cardboard:
- Packaging (e.g., cereal/teabag/tissue boxes; ready meal outer packaging).
- Corrugated cardboard.
- Greetings cards.
- Toilet/kitchen roll tubes.

Glass:
- Any colour glass bottle or jar (including their lids).

No window panes, glass cookware/Pyrex, glasses, broken glasses or light bulbs. Take these to a household waste recycling centre.

Plastics:
- With the exception of cling film and bubblewrap all plastics can be recycled even though the packaging may state ‘not currently recycled’.
- Carrier and other plastic bags.

Food waste (caddies)
- All cooked and uncooked food.
- Fish and meat bones.
- Tea bags/coffee grounds.
- Egg shells.
- Fruit and vegetable peelings.
- Cut flowers.

Waste to take to a recycling site
- Old clothing/shoes/handbags.
- Batteries.
- Low energy light bulbs.
- Mobile phones.
- CDs and DVDs.
- Printer cartridges.
- Electrical items.
- Large metal items.

No tetra-paks (e.g., fruit juice containers), crisp packets or Pringles tubes.

Remember – items made of more than one material cannot be recycled easily at the moment.

Metals:
- Aerosol cans (must be completely empty).
- Aluminium foil.
- Food tins (empty).
- Drinks cans.

Non-recyclable waste (black bags)

- Polystyrene.
- Clingfilm.
- Bubblewrap.
- Shredded paper.
- Pill packets.
- Ash (never put hot ashes in your bin).
- Crisp packets.
- Pringles tubes.
- Sweet wrappers.
- Nappies/sanitary items.
- Textiles (or to textile bank).
- Glass cookware/mirrors.
- Broken crockery.

On 29 February, the council agreed a budget of £338.3 million for the year ahead – including a council tax freeze for the second year running. With Hampshire Police Authority also freezing its precept, the only rise this year to households will be if there is an increased precept levied by your parish or town council.

The Isle of Wight Council’s budget is around £1 million less than that agreed for 2011/2012, largely because the amount of government grant given to the authority has been reduced.

Despite this decrease in grant, the council has sought to protect spending in its priority areas. These priorities are: raising educational standards; supporting older and vulnerable residents; keeping children safe; regeneration and the economy; developing a comprehensive and sustainable waste strategy; bringing unprecedented investment to the Island’s road network through the highways private finance initiative (PFI); housing and homelessness; and delivering budget savings through operating more efficiently.

To help shape its budget for 2012/2013 the council staged a series of consultation exercises in November and December. These included workshops with residents, businesses, community groups, unions and town and parish councils and online consultation.

The budget includes significant money for a number of schemes aimed at supporting the local economy.

The council is investing £3 million over two years in bringing super-fast broadband capability to the Island, which matches government funding of £3.2 million. Together this will help bring super-fast broadband to a minimum of 90 per cent of Island premises.

The budget also includes £1 million, alongside £2 million from the private sector, to secure the licences and permission necessary to develop the first phase of a Solent Ocean Energy Centre. Once established, this facility for the development and testing of tidal energy systems using tidal flows to the south of the Island could create hundreds of local jobs.

A £1 million sum is being set aside for infrastructure work that will enable the Homes and Communities Agency to bring forward for development parcels of land that it owns on the Island, while the budget also includes one-off funding of £300,000 to support schemes to create job opportunities for up to 160 people.

A sum of £250,000 has been made available to parish and town councils (for them to match) to go towards local schemes that will improve the economic viability of Island towns and villages.
The council’s net budget in this area will increase in the forthcoming year as more people become increasingly dependent on our services. The net budget will rise from £35.8 million in the current financial year to £36.6 million next year. This rise continues in 2013/2014 (£40 million) and by 2014/2015 the budget will be £42.9 million. It means that by 2014/15 there will have been a near 20 per cent net increase in this area over this four year period.

The council’s current waste contract ends in 2015. Preparatory work is being undertaken to ensure the new long-term agreement means the Island deals with its waste in an environmentally-friendly and cost-effective way. This work involves hiring the skills of experts in waste and contracts of this nature, and it is envisaged the costs of preparing for the contract will be quickly repaid in savings once the improved arrangement gets underway.

From next April, the largest engineering project of its type ever undertaken on the Island – a comprehensive upgrade of our highway network – will begin. The investment is possible because of a government grant of £260 million (at current values).

For its part, the council will continue to invest in the necessary preparation required to ensure the contract is right for the Island both in terms of meeting its infrastructure needs and maximising economic and employment benefits.

Other areas of investment

- £3 million to support tourism over the next nine years. This may well be through a new tourist board led by the tourism industry.
- £500,000 to upgrade a number of the 41 public toilets maintained by the council.
- £3 million to finance a new Cowes chain ferry when the current floating bridge is deemed no longer suitable for use.

Your council tax

Your council tax for 2012/2013 has been frozen at the same rate as in 2011/2012. Here we explain:

- where the council’s money comes from and how your council tax contributes to our overall funding (alongside government grants, income generation and contributions);
- where we will spend our funds in 2012/2013;
- the major factors that affect what you pay;
- what the council tax for your particular property band is.

We also show the contribution towards your parish or town area and the element relating to the Hampshire Police Authority.

Where the money comes from

The money the council uses to provide services comes from sources including:

- formula grant from the government;
- the council tax and freeze grant;
- core grants for specific services and projects;
- dedicated schools' grant;
- income from charging and contributions for certain services;
- other grants.

How the council is saving money

Last year a number of tough decisions were taken to help the council find £18 million of required savings. In many cases, local communities and organisations came forward to take on some of the services, e.g. community libraries and buses. However the majority of savings – 76 per cent – were found through back-office efficiencies (such as senior management reductions) or in additional income.

In the 2012/2013 budget, more than 90 per cent of the required £3.8 million savings will be found from similar efficiencies or income, meaning frontline services will be protected as far as possible.

1 The reduction in the schools’ budgets reflects the funding arrangements for the newly created academy schools which receive their grants directly from the Department for Education.
2 Car parking is expenditure on the service; income is included in the line with grants and other income.

Four factors that affect what you pay

1. The level of tax set by the Isle of Wight Council
The level of tax set by the council to cover the cost of services it will provide in 2012/2013 is the same as in 2011/2012. By setting a zero increase the council will receive a grant equivalent to a 2.5 per cent increase.

2. The property band you are in
The value of your property, on 1 April 1991, will have been assessed by the independent listing officer, a central government agent. Your property will then have been placed in one of eight bands – your bill will show which one.

*Disabled reduction

3. The level of spending set independently by the Hampshire Police Authority
The element of council tax that relates to the Hampshire Police Authority is unchanged from 2011/2012. The Hampshire Police Authority also receives a grant equivalent to a 2.5 per cent increase.

4. Charges for local services
Your bill includes an amount towards the cost of the town or parish council for the area in which you live.

One Island 17
A wide variety of new-look school buildings have been continuing to take shape across the Island in recent months – ranging from entirely new primary schools to classroom extensions and refurbishments.

The construction schemes are central to the Island’s overall school reorganisation project, which last September saw a switch to a two tier education system of primary and secondary schools.

Next month (April) will see the start of the final term in the first academic year under the new system – and work has been continuing to ensure the Island has the latest, high standard facilities for its schoolchildren.

Particular progress can be seen with the two new £6 million primary schools being built for Haylands Primary School at Ryde and St Francis Primary School at Ventnor.

At Haylands Primary, on the former Swanmore Middle upper field, work is ahead of schedule. The windows have been going in on the new building, the brick-facing is being put in place, and utility services are up and running. The school is now expected to be ready for occupation from September this year.

At St Francis Primary (on the former Ventnor Middle site), demolition work has been completed and the steel frame for the new structure is due to be erected from mid-March. The school is due to be handed over in December and operational from January next year.

The St Francis scheme has been shortlisted in the Considerate Constructors’ Scheme National Site Awards 2012.

Funding for all schemes is being provided centrally by the Department for Education – with funds generated from the sale of surplus school sites also being invested back into Island school facilities.

On all aspects of the overall project the council has been working closely with its framework partner, Willmott Dixon Construction – supported by many Island-based contractors.

Project director for the council, Janet Newton, said: “Each phase of this major project presents us with new challenges, and our framework partner and Island sub-contractors have responded magnificently to ensuring all is delivered to a high standard and on schedule.”

Upgrades at former middle school sites

Refurbishment work at Queensgate Primary at East Cowes (the former Osborne Middle site) has been completed and pupils have recently moved in from the old Whippingham and Grange Road sites. The former Whippingham site is being taken over by the privately-operated Priory School.

Queensgate is among a number of former middle school sites which closed to become primary schools and whose facilities are being upgraded. Similar work is nearing completion at Greenmount Primary (Mayfield Middle).

Three other schools due to be handed over following refurbishment, are: Broadlea Primary (former Lake Middle), Gurnard Primary (former Solent Middle), and Hunnyhill Primary (former Kitbridge Middle). These will be handed over before Easter, and Lanesend Primary (former Somerton Middle) shortly after. Bembridge Primary (former Forelands Middle) will be completed for a September 2012 occupation.

‘Sunesis’ schools planned for Gatten & Lake and The Bay

A planning application has now been submitted for a new-build Gatten and Lake Primary School on the school’s former...
New era takes shape for Island schools

Special schools
Two surplus primary school sites – at Love Lane, Cowes and Broadlea, Lake – are to be used to provide enhanced and improved facilities for Island children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities. More details on these plans will be published in the near future.

Surplus school sites
Outline planning applications have been submitted for the residential redevelopment of surplus school sites at Gurnard, and Swanmore at Ryde – and an application is pending for the former West Wight Middle site. Funds generated from the sale of these sites will be re-used for school facilities.

Cowes One School Pathfinder
The new £30 million One School Pathfinder project in Cowes is on target to be ready for the start of the 2012/2013 academic year in September – with fitting out continuing to schedule, and the school’s new bio-roof due to be seeded and ready for the growing season in the spring.

Contractor Pihl is due to hand over the school in May/June.

Volunteering future is bright orange!

Look out at St Mary’s Hospital for the 250-strong volunteer army, now proudly wearing their new bright orange uniforms. These unsung local heroes are continuing their excellent work in their new uniforms following kind sponsorship and donations from an array of companies and organisations.

To sign up and donate your time to volunteering, you can visit www.iow.nhs.uk/volunteer – or pick up a copy of the new Isle of Wight NHS Guide to Volunteering – available on the St Mary’s website and at various local locations. Alternatively contact Richard Dent, volunteer co-ordinator, tel: 822099 (ext: 6246), email: volunteer@iow.nhs.uk

Care for stroke patients revolutionised

The Community Stroke Rehabilitation Team (pictured) offers innovation in the delivery of stroke rehabilitation on the Isle of Wight.

The team was set up to facilitate discharge from hospital as early as possible and provide interdisciplinary rehabilitation in community settings, most often in patients’ own homes.

National studies have shown that this approach improves the quality of care as well as reducing the length of stay and institutionalisation rates following stroke. The team has enabled more than 50 per cent of all patients admitted to hospital with a diagnosis of stroke to leave St Mary’s quickly.

This has been achieved with a proactive approach to getting patients home as soon as they are medically fit. Once home, patients, their families and carers are supported with their recovery through co-ordinated and intensive rehabilitation.

In response to a patient’s individual needs, the team can offer up to five visits per day from 7.30am to 9pm, seven days a week. These visits are aimed at promoting independence, reducing risks of further stroke and supporting families and carers. In addition, the team works closely with adult social services and the Stroke Association. Feedback from patients, their families and carers has been overwhelmingly positive.

Quality of care improving at St Mary’s

Data on hospital mortality from the Department of Health and other analysis shows that there has been a three point reduction, from 119 to 116, for the period June 2010 to June 2011. Further reductions are expected.

Work to provide single sex recovery areas following an endoscopy has now been completed. There have been no breaches of single sex accommodation since April 2011.

Staff continue to be vigilant in their approach to provision of single sex accommodation and ensuring patients’ privacy and dignity is respected at all times, which is part of our Let’s Show We Care initiative (www.iow.nhs.uk/wecare).

‘Getting it right’ surveys are given to all inpatients on discharge in order to collate real time data on patient satisfaction. The aim is for wards to achieve a 50 per cent response rate based on their patient discharges. The latest results (for December 2011) show that 95 per cent of inpatients are satisfied or very satisfied with their care.

Reports on the quality of care, performance of the Island’s NHS, finance and workforce are published every month at www.iow.nhs.uk/performance

NHS changes

In September 2011 I reported on the changes taking place in the organisation of the NHS. I am now pleased to report that Kevin Flynn has been appointed chief executive of the new Isle of Wight NHS Trust which, subject to final ministerial approval, is expected to commence business on 1 April 2012. This separate and new NHS Trust will cover the majority of services including ambulance, community health, mental health, prison healthcare and those at St Mary’s Hospital.

The creation of the new organisation follows an extensive options appraisal to establish that the Island can support a separate NHS trust that is clinically and financially sustainable. We are currently working with stakeholders, voluntary organisations and patient representatives to redesign our services to ensure that they meet these two requirements. The new organisation will be working towards Foundation Trust status which we hope can be achieved by April 2014.

The commissioning of services for Islanders will in the future mostly be the responsibility of the Isle of Wight Clinical Commissioning Group, which is part of a cluster of primary care trusts – see www.iow.nhs.uk/ccg

Arrangements for changes to the organisation of public health services, which in part will transfer to the Isle of Wight Council, are under discussion.
